Monetary Bill Foes Call For Gold Standard

War Talk Figures In Discussion Of Naval Air Base

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(P)—House foes of legislation to extend the administration's monetary powers lined up today behind a Republican recommendation for congressional control over money and an early return to the gold standard.

The report, submitted by a party committee to house Republicans yesterday, demanded discontinuance of the domestic silver purchase program and the President's authority to devalue the dollar further. It asked greater restrictions on the treasury's $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund.

The monetary bill would continue these three features until June 30, 1941.

The Republicans proposed that a senate-house committee be established to work out changes in the monetary system, especially a means of bringing about an early resumption of specie payments.

The committee said its suggestions would end "all unsound and dangerous elements" in the present monetary system, stimulate recovery immeasurably, and restore confidence in government.

Call Up Air Base Bill

The house interrupted debate on the monetary bill today to consider one of President Roosevelt's defense proposals — the training of thousands of civilian airplane pilots.

In the senate, administration leaders called up a $66,800,000 naval air base bill, increased $18,000,000 over the house-approved total. This measure also is a part of the defense program.

War talk figured in the discussion of the monetary powers as well as in the military and naval bills.

Mr. Roosevelt said at a press conference that extension of the fiscal authority was not linked with the European situation but with the general world economic conditions. Chairman Somers (D-NY) of the house coinage committee, however, mentioned specifically the possibility of conflict in Europe in urging the extension.

"We know what situation existed yesterday and we know what the situation is today," he said, "but God only knows what conditions will exist tomorrow. And I don't want to curtail the right of the United States to protect itself against something more extreme than we have seen in the past."

Senate interest in the international situation centered on committee hearings of neutrality proposals. Senator Pittman (D-Nev) repeated his plea for a law permitting sales of munitions to belligerents for cash and shipment in foreign vessels.

Yesterday Upton Close, writer on far eastern affairs, told the house foreign affairs committee that President Roosevelt's appeal to Hitler and Mussolini to keep the peace for 10 years may have prevented Japan's joining in a military alliance with Germany and Italy.

The President told his reporters yesterday he had no further comment on his world peace plea. He added that he had nothing to say about transfer of the fleet from the Atlantic to the Pacific, except to note that the fleet was returning to its normal base.

J. A. Muster In Talk To Club

J. A. Muster, project supervisor of the Osage Farms, gave an interesting talk on the operation of the farms at the regular noon meeting of the Lions club today. An invitation to attend the Dairy Field Day to be held Friday at the Bois D'Arc farm was given by Mr. Muster.

Following his talk the meeting was given over to questions which the club members wished to ask. These questions were answered by Mr. Muster and Bryce Mace of the F. S. C.

Kenneth U. Love, of the Democrat's advertising department, became a new member.

Visiting guests were: Judge James K. Lacey, B. B. Bess, Louis Isgur, Patrick Henry, T. B. Young and Elsworth Green.

The meeting was presided over by Jack Jolly.

Dismissal For 37,404 By WPA

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(P)—The Works Progress Administration has dismissed 37,404 ineligible persons from its rolls after a nationwide investigation of need.

Administrator F. C. Harrington said today WPA had reviewed each of the 2,929,622 enrolled workers in compliance with a congressional order for the survey.

"Considering the fact the current need of any large group is never steady," he said, "it is gratifying to learn that only 1.3 per cent of more than 2,900,000 cases reviewed were found to have been carried on our rolls longer than was justified by conditions which caused local authorities to certify them for WPA jobs."

"It should be noted also that there is a constant turnover of employment in WPA. During the period covered by this study (February 15-March 15), for example, in addition to the 37,404 who were removed 122,390 persons left the rolls as part of the usual employment turnover, which is largely voluntary."

Despite these reductions, increased demands brought WPA enrollment to 2,976,140 in the week ending March 29.

Employe removals by states included Missouri, 1,372.

Further Slash In Employees At Kansas City

Mayor Smith In Decree Ones Not Needed To Go

KANSAS CITY, April 19.—Mayor Bryce B. Smith applied the spurs today to city department heads in his purge of unnecessary employees.

The elimination of hundreds of employees is necessary, the little mayor decreed at a meeting with Eugene C. Zachman, acting city manager, and 30 department heads.

The mayor, who stepped out of a quiet role as head of Kansas City's municipal government to force resignation of City Manager H. F. McElroy and Director of Police Otto P. Higgins, left no doubt he considered dismissals necessary.

"We want to give Kansas City a clean government, the kind we will be proud of," he told department directors.

"We've got to do it if we expect this administration to remain in power."

"Things have happened in this administration that should not have been permitted, and we are going to do our best to rectify them. The city hall has not been run right, or we wouldn't have so many employees and a big deficit."

Mayor Smith directed his subordinates to "run this government just as a private business would be run. We've got too many employees and we've got to get rid of them. I know it is a disagreeable task, but you've got to do it."

"Know The Workers"
"You men know what employees really do the work and it is your duty to get rid of all who are not absolutely necessary. None of you, I am sure, wants a stigma placed on your fellow workers or upon the city administration. You've got to look upon yourselves as partners in business, and operate the government as you would your private business."

Would Consolidate Relief Agencies

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(P)—The senate unemployment committee split the Byrnes relief-public works bill into two sections today and sent it to the senate floor.

One part would consolidate WPA, PWA, CCC, NYA, the Bureau of Roads and Federal Building activities under a new independent public works agency.

The other would liberalize unemployment compensation, old age assistance and aid to dependent children under the social security system.

Before this action, four Republicans on the committee submitted a report saying the bill written by Chairman Byrnes (D-SC) would be "essentially a step forward." The four—Lodge (Mass), Davis (Pa), McNary (Ore) and Frazier (ND)—said consolidation of the relief agencies should effect administrative economies.

On the other hand, bi-partisan opposition developed to Byrnes' proposals in the house committee investigating WPA.

Supervisors In Good Will Trip To Warsaw

Talks, Music And Other Features At Dinner There

The Missouri Pacific Supervisors Club Tuesday night entertained the Chamber of Commerce of Warsaw, Mo., with a dinner and entertainment program in the Methodist church at Warsaw.

A full representation of the Sedalia organization along with members of their families together with the large number of Warsaw guests, taxed the capacity of the edifice.

L. L. Studer, president of the Supervisors Club presided. G. T. Callendar, superintendent of the Missouri Pacific Railway shops acted as toastmaster. E. W. Kettleson was chairman of entertainment.

The program following a delicious roast chicken dinner served by the church ladies, moved rapidly. The invocation by J. H. Thomas of Sedalia preceded Mr. Studer's address of welcome. L. J. Parsons, president of the Warsaw Chamber of Commerce responded.

Talks were made by Dr. J. A. Logan, prominent citizen of Warsaw and Benton county; F. T. Mahoney, superintendent of the Kansas City Terminal and Eastern Division of the Missouri Pacific, and Palmer Nichols, chief booster of the Missouri Pacific Booster Club.

Music Program Offered

In addition to community songs, a musical selection by Scotty Newkirk and Jerry Hart, two first grade youngsters was heartily received, as was the Singing Cowboy numbers of Jimmie Newkirk, which followed. Harold Sharp, music director of the Warsaw high school, sang two solos accompanied by Miss Mary Vanda Dulaney. Mrs. E. H. White of the Central Business College faculty in Sedalia gave two delightful readings and Mrs. Joe Thomas of Sedalia concluded the entertainment program with two whistling solos.

Rev. J. H. Wagoner, pastor of the Warsaw church responded for the thanks of appreciation to the ladies of his church for the splendid dinner which they had served.

The many Missouri Pacific officials present praised the business contributed by the community of Warsaw in support of the Missouri Pacific. The "narrow gauge" railway was extended to Warsaw in 1880 and was changed to a "wide gauge" in 1902. Further praise was extended to the loyal group of Missouri Pacific employees who handle the railroad's business from Warsaw.

Single Game In Big Leagues

NEW YORK, April 19.—(P)—The weather played havoc with the major leagues baseball schedule today for the third straight day, causing postponement of all games except the Bees Patriotic Day morning game with the Phillies at Boston.

With the rain continuing along the Atlantic seaboard and cold weather following in the wake of the storm throughout the midwest, the Reds-Cubs opener in Chicago was postponed for the second time. In the American League, the Red Sox and Yankees also failed to get into action at the Yankee stadium as did the Senators and Athletics at Philadelphia and the Indians and Browns at St. Louis.

The Giants-Dodgers, Cardinals-Pirates and White Sox-Tigers gave way to the elements after opening the season under bad weather conditions yesterday.

Even the weather was none too good at Boston where the Bees and Phillies played to a slim crowd of 1,925 in the morning game.

Bees Win In 12 Innings

BOSTON, April 19.—(P)—The Boston Bees opened their major league season today by taking a 12-inning Patriots Day morning game from Philadelphia, 7 to 6. Al Simmons, former American Leaguer, knocked in the winning marker with one out.

Phila. 030 120 000 000—6 10 2 Boston 200 011 101 001—3 12 1 Mulcahy, Smith, Butcher and Millies; Turner, Erickson, Shoffner, Posedel and Lopez.

Philadelphia at Boston—afternoon game postponed rain.

Defend Home Rule Tonight

Be Presented By Kansas Citizens On Police Control

JEFFERSON CITY, April 19.—(P)—The capitol awaited eagerly today the other side of the Kansas City police bill story—why Gov. Lloyd C. Stark's demand that the Kansas City police force be placed under state control should not be granted.

It will be told tonight before the house judiciary committee—and probably another capacity audience in the house chamber—by a "home rule" delegation headed by James E. Nugent, president of the Kansas City park board.

Mayor Bryce B. Smith of Kansas City said last night Nugent would attend the hearing as the city administration's representative. Earlier Smith had announced he would be unable to appear before the committee because of "the press of business at the city hall at this time."

"Of course," Smith said, "I'm continuing the police department under home rule."

Mayor Smith took charge of Kansas City's municipal government last week after the resignation of City Manager H. F. McElroy and other fast-breaking developments which followed the indictment of "Boss" Tom J. Pendergast by a federal grand jury on income tax evasion charges.

Others expected to attend the hearing include Harry Rice, a member of the Kansas City Motor Car Dealers' Association, and Dr. Thomas A. Kyner, president of the South Central Business Men's Association.

Rice said he wanted to "go on the record as endorsing the splendid work done by the police motor theft bureau."

Directors of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, who previously had adopted a resolution to oppose the Stark-inspired bill, were not expected to be represented at the hearing.

Yesterday they voted to submit the question of their stand to the entire membership after individuals had criticized their action.

The resolution condemning Gov. Stark's move to make the police department answerable to a state-appointed board was submitted to the house committee last week, however.

Judiciary Chairman H. P. Lauf (D), Jefferson City, said tonight's meeting would be turned over entirely to the Weakley bill's opponents and that the hearings would be concluded next Tuesday night. The bill's sponsors had planned to submit their rebuttal evidence tonight and had hoped for committee action at once.

Speakers Club To Elect Officers

The Sedalia Speakers' club will hold its annual election of officers at the regular weekly meeting to be held at the public library on Thursday night, April 20.

The officers to be elected are: president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, whose terms of office will be for the club year of 1939-40.

The election will supplement the regular program for the evening with Pat Handley, program chairman for the evening. Speakers will be Harry Homans, E. W. Kettleson and Philip Kain. The theories of public speaking will be discussed by J. W. Atkinson.

Be No Let-up In Drive On Crime

Stark So States On His Return To The Capital

JEFFERSON CITY, April 19.—(P)—Gov. Lloyd C. Stark returned today from a week in Washington to-day with assurance there would be "no let up or compromise with crime by the United States department of justice" in its current Kansas City drive.

At the same time Stark snuffed out persistent rumors he would accept an official post in Washington, but left the door open for his possibility as a candidate on the 1940 Democratic national ticket.

"I shall remain in the governor's office until the end of my term," he said at his first Missouri press conference since his return from Washington.

The Missouri executive smilingly greeted reporters but he avoided direct comment on the income tax evasion indictment of his political foe, Kansas City's T. J. Pendergast, or on the subsequent city hall shakeup in that city.

He said he had four separate conferences with Attorney General Frank Murphy during his Washington stay.

"Did General Murphy give you any assurances as to the continuation of the federal investigations in Missouri?" he was asked.

Stark absented himself from the room to draft his reply. When he returned he read this statement from penciled notes:

"Yes—Every assurance was given me by the attorney general of the United States that there would be no letup and no compromise with crime by the United States department of justice."

"That I could let the people of Missouri know that in this death struggle with a desperate criminal organization nothing could stop the federal government."

Duty To State First

Stark dismissed the "politics" of his Washington trip abruptly. Reporters asked him for comment on "recent news dispatches from Washington that you might accept any one of several important Washington posts."

"There is absolutely no justification for any rumor that I am going to Washington," Stark replied.

"My duty to my own people of Missouri comes first. I would not desert them in this critical time, when we are about to win our war on crime."

"I shall remain in the governor's office until the end of my term."

To conjecture that he might go before the next Democratic convention as a possible candidate for a place on the national ticket Stark said:

"I do not care to discuss that matter."

The governor has been frequently mentioned as a possibility for the navy secretaryship should that cabinet post become vacant. Other sources have said he might be offered the assistant secretaryship or that a place would be made for him in the Washington official family.

Lindbergh To Research On U. S. Air Facilities

Called To Make A Survey To Build Up Aviation

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Ordered on temporary duty as an army officer, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh began today a survey of American aviation research facilities to help make the nation's warplanes the best in the world.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(P)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, world's most famous flier, was called to the colors Tuesday in a dramatic move to insure the United States army world leadership in the development of warplanes.

A few days after expert witnesses had told Congressional committees that Germany was building better planes than the United States, the surprise announcement was issued by Secretary of War Woodring that Lindbergh, an air corps reserve officer, had gone on active duty and would make a survey of American aviation research facilities for the army air corps.

The "lone eagle" reported Tuesday to the chief of the air corps, Major General Henry Arnold. He then departed on an inspection trip of research centers. Later he will make a confidential report to General Arnold.

Knows European Strength

Besides his world-known experiences as a practical flier, Lindbergh has been in close touch during his prolonged stay abroad, with the aeronautical accomplishments in Europe. In his capacity as reserve colonel, and as a member of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, he has kept officials here in touch with developments which came under his observation. Lindbergh recently returned to the United States for an indefinite stay.

Apart from Lindbergh's knowledge of planes, it was believed Woodring was counting on his world renown to dramatize the research problem and thereby facilitate action on it.

Recently colleagues of Lindbergh on the Nation Advisory Committee, which is the official body directing government aviation research, had testified on Capitol Hill that Germany had leaped ahead of the United States, largely because of the emphasis it placed on research.

Nazis Celebrate Birthday Of Adolf Hitler

Rumors Denied Danzig To Be A Birthday Gift

BERLIN, April 19.—Germany relegated world-stirring politics to the background today and turned attention to the two-day birthday celebration of its leader.

While official sources emphatically denied rumors the free city of Danzig would be handed to Reichsfuehrer Hitler as a present on his 50th birthday Thursday, and while the day will find 25 warships of the fleet steaming toward Spanish waters, columns of reports on the birthday preparations crowded out political news from German newspapers.

Hands still were busily at work completing profuse street decorations, garlanding and beflagging the houses, for the celebration that starts at 5 p. m. today.

Hitler quietly returned to the capital yesterday, ending the ten-day vacation which he interrupted Saturday to consider President Roosevelt's peace proposals. The Fuehrer returned to his new chancellery where his first official act was to name the almost forgotten Franz Von Papen as the Reich's new ambassador to Turkey to succeed Friedrich Von Keller.

Observers attached great importance to the appointment of Von Papen, who laid the foundations for Germany's absorption of Austria from his post as ambassador in Vienna, and who will be no newcomer to Turkey.

He was chief of the general staff of the fourth Turkish army under Field Marshal Liman von Sanders in 1917 after his recall as military attaché at Washington.

Gets Air Concession

Almost coincident with Von Papen's appointment it was learned from a reliable source that Lufthansa, German commercial airline, had succeeded after ten years of patient endeavor in obtaining a concession from a commercial air service with Turkey. There was no official announcement of the concession.

Where Will The Next Holocaust Strike?

"Vast sections of many U. S. cities are potential deathtraps, built by man," says Fortune. "Long overdue in one of these cities is a holocaust, and it will come without fail. It may be another ghastly mass cremation like the Triangle Waist sweat-shop fire in New York, wherein 145 persons, nearly all of them girls, perished in 1911 because the owners refused to spend the paltry amount of money necessary to give even a fair degree of safety. It may be another conflagration such as burned Paris, Texas, to the ground in 1916; such as swept through Salem, Massachusetts, in 1914.

"It is appalling to contemplate the certainty of the recurring ruination of life or property on such a vast scale; but any realistic approach to the U. S. fire problem must do so. To the fire specialist, the syllogism is obvious: (1) Past conflagrations were the effects of specific known causes. (2) Identical causes still exist in a great many places. Therefore, just as sure as God blows dry winds over wooden roofs, fire will blacken cities again.

"Clearly there is an important variable in the past logic. The variable concerns the matter of fire causes. If the causes can be controlled, even partially, then the next conflagration can at least be postponed."

That puts the issue squarely where it belongs—up to all the communities of America, and all the people who live in them. Up-to-date building codes, the elimination of fire-traps, scientific inspections of property to discover and eliminate hazards, unremitting education of both children and adults—here are fire's most potent enemies. If they are used to the full, it may be that the next horrible holocaust of which Fortune speaks will not only be postponed, but prevented.

Eighty Per Cent Got Jobs

It's been a tough pull and a long pull for young people during the past 10 years. Any glimmers of light on a horizon which has looked back indeed for youth are most welcome.

When nearly 80 per cent of 211 graduates of New York University's College of Engineering get jobs, that's news. And welcome news, too.

A survey of last June's graduates was made. Of 211 graduates, 167 are working, 78.2 per cent.

Weekly salaries ranged as low as $15, but as high as $60, and averaged $29 a week. That is not munificent for engineering graduates, but it is passable for less than a year out of college halls.

But the best augury is that when engineers work, others work. The job of the engineer is such that when he works, the result of his work usually means work for many times as many less specialized workers.

Thus the employment of 80 per cent of a class of engineering graduates is a hopeful sign not only for young men of that profession, but for everybody else as well.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — The reason April 28 is considered significant by State Department officials as a possible date for war to break is the fact that it comes one week after the German army maneuvers on April 20.

April 20 is Hitler's birthday, at which time the army will stage a tremendous demonstration. It will take about one week after that to place troops in position along the French and Polish borders, and it is feared that the main conflagration may burst at that time.

Originally, the Germany fleet was scheduled to hold maneuvers on April 20, and it is especially significant that the fleet jumped the gun and has already escaped to the Atlantic.

Nazi warships now can constitute a raiding force far more powerful than the famous Emden. German pocket battleships are superior to any British vessel save battleships, and so fast that they can steam away from all British ships save the Hood and Nelson.

NOTE — It has been a favorite German trick to let drop a specific date on which hostilities may start, thus throwing the French and British into a panic. Therefore the exact date of April 28 may have no great significance. What is important to the U. S., however, is that regardless of the exact date of "Der Tag," there is deep pessimism in State Department circles regarding the prospects of European peace.

Tribute To Jefferson

Frugal were the crumbs of homage which the House of Representatives handed Thomas Jefferson last week. Congressmen had thought the business of the day was over. Sam Rayburn actually had moved adjournment, and Bankhead was about to bring his gavel down, when Louis Ludlow of Indiana rose and asked for 20 minutes on Jefferson.

Members crowded the aisles to leave the chamber. The Speaker banged his gavel and cried, "The House is NOT adjourned." Members continued to leave. Ludlow brought his notes to the rostrum and declared he wanted to pay tribute to "the greatest humanitarian since Jesus of Nazareth."

Twenty members remained. Bankhead turned the Chair over to a substitute who tried to keep the twenty attentive. "We should reconsecrate ourselves," cried Ludlow, "at the feet of Jefferson."

Lex Green of Florida, in a Windsor tie, held court with two cronies at the rear of the chamber. Mary Norton of New Jersey, in a print dress, chatted with Reuben Wood of Missouri. Joe Martin of Massachusetts held a fight talk with Republican stalwarts on the other side of the aisle.

"Jefferson," declared Ludlow, "did more than any other man to free the human spirit." One man, Gene Cox of Georgia, broke into applause.

Russian Enigma

Inside diplomats say the most important change to come over the British Cabinet in the past ten days is in regard to Russia. Russia now holds the key to British Empire safety, which is why Chamberlain is so abjectly wooing her.

Russia's position ever since

Side Glances

By George Clark

"See—he openly defies me! What do you suppose would have happened if I'd tried that on my father?"

Munich has been one of sitting on the side-lines smiling at Britain's predicament. Stalin was sore at the Munich surrender and let the British know that they could stew in their own juice.

This was not lost upon London, and there have been many discussions within the British Cabinet regarding overtures to Russia. Until recently, however, vigorous objections came from Sir Samuel Hoare, Sir John Simon and from Chamberlain himself. They claimed that if Britain made overtures to Russia, it would alienate Mussolini. They were still kidding themselves that Il Duce was going to join France and Britain.

This Cabinet group also figured that it would be smart for Britain to maneuver Hitler and Stalin into a war against each other. Thus the two dictators could fight it out, while Britain looked on from the side-lines. And the weaker Russia and Germany got, the stronger would become Britain.

Easier Prey

Only trouble with this was that it didn't work. Shrewd strategist Hitler remembered what happened to Napoleon at Moscow, knew that Russia never has been defeated on her own territory. In the Russo-Japanese war she only lost territory which belonged to China, and if it hadn't been for Teddy Roosevelt's intervention, she would not even have lost that.

So Hitler has concentrated on easier prey. Instead of the British watching Russia and Germany at each other's throats, Russia recently has been watching Britain and Germany on the verge of similar combat.

NOTE — It was just one month ago that Russia proposed to London a conference to bring Turkey, Rumania and Poland into a collective security pact. Britain vetoed this. More recently, the British have been frantically negotiating with the same governments to work out virtually the same alliances the Russians proposed a month ago.

White House Visitors

State Department is confronted with the problem of moving the President of Nicaragua from New Orleans to Washington by slow motion. He is coming on invitation from Roosevelt, but the trouble is that his ship arrives in New Orleans May 1, at which time the President will be in Hyde Park entertaining other notables, the Crown Prince and Princess of Denmark.

May 5 is the earliest the President can receive President Somoza at the White House. What to do with him between May 1 and May 5 is the big question. Here is the solution:

A corps of State, War, and Navy officials will go to New Orleans to meet Somoza and his party, and will hold him there for two days of partying. Leaving May 3, they will stop off in Atlanta to kill another day. This will bring the party to Washington on the 5th, when the Roosevelts will have scurried down from Hyde Park to receive them.

The White House guest bed will hardly have time for a change of sheets after the Nicaraguan visit before Prime Minister de Valera of Ireland arrives, May 7.

Under The Dome

During his campaign last year, Representative George W. Gillis, Indiana veterinarian, was repeatedly heckled by Democrats with the demand, "Why send a horse doctor to Congress?" His stock reply to the jibe was, "So someone can doctor those jackasses down there."

Representative John W. Boehne is jokingly referred to as the "Hoosier Cal Coolidge" because he has never made a speech in his eight years in Congress. . . . The first initials of the President's last three appointees to the Supreme Court, Frankfurter, Douglas and Reed, spell out F. D. R.

SERIAL STORY BORDER ADVENTURE

BY OREN ARNOLD
COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday Betty admits to her mother that she is more than interested in the two Border Patrol officers. Meanwhile, they are looking for Barro and in distant Mexico aliens are being snuggled up to the border.

CHAPTER IV

"WE'D better stake out the horses over here and make the rest of the way on foot," Sheridan Starr suggested. "If we to the next rise on horseback we could be seen."

"Right," agreed Hope Kildare. "And make a fine rifle target."

"Yeamp."

The two young officers made their mounts secure with ropes tied in a clump of scrubby desert trees. There would be a few mouthfuls to browse there as well as concealment in daytime, the men knew.

Each man then hooked a quart canteen of water to his belt, and a rolled blanket containing a little food was strapped military fashion to each back. Cartridge belts were already filled, pistols strapped on. Each removed a rifle from a saddle holster and the two set out afoot, moving almost silently in the darkness. The night had only stars for guidance, and the threatening bulk of the mountains.

"San Felipe Canyon properly begins six miles further up, where the new paved highway skirts the mouth of it," Hope remarked, barely above a whisper now.

"That's why aliens are beginning to use it. They can make it up the canyon at night to the highway, be picked up in cars and be well on the way to Albuquerque or Denver or some other inland point by daybreak. See?"

"Sure. But it leads right on down to the fence too, doesn't it?"

"Yeamp. And there's where we better wait. If we don't nab 'em soon as they cross the line they may take a notion to scatter."

"Okay. How many you guess'll be in the party, Sherry?"

"No tellin'. Betty Mary didn't have the whole dope on it."

They ceased talking and began moving now with the skill of long practice, slowly, silently, as an Indian might go. Beyond the horizon line dead ahead was San Felipe Canyon.

FROM their position they could be fairly comfortable and could surely discover any pedestrians or riders who might try to come up the canyon. They unrolled blankets and wrapped up to combat the cold. Then they took turns on guard.

It was a small gorge, but its 300 feet or so of depth loomed forbidding by night. Parts of its walls were sheer; a man could step over a rim and plunge to sure death below. All of it was a rocky rugged terrain, touched here and there by thorny cacti which had to be sensed by the crawling men.

"Don't stick up your head," Hope warned his friend, unnecessarily, whispering right into his ear. "Hump your blanket up around your neck. I'll keep your silhouette from looking like a man, in case anybody should just happen to be gazing at the skyline."

"Right," Sheridan whispered.

They moved on all fours—putting first their rifles forward, then pulling up legs. If they had been older men they would have realized that this was much like reconnoitering into No Man's Land in 1917, and indeed that's about what it was anyway. They had excellent reason to suspect that five or maybe 25 desperate aliens might be on the other side of this ridge, and they knew any such aliens would train hawk-like eyes for the officers from El Paso.

"Worst thing is," Hope whispered once, "we didn't get the tip in time. We may be already too late."

His concern over this heightened as more time passed. The two men edged over the rim, hearing nothing but a distant night bird, and worked their way down near the narrow floor of the canyon. They found a rock about the size of an automobile which could serve double purpose—it shielded them from the chill night breeze which raced up the canyon, and it would be a breastworks from possible bullets too. They huddled beside it for a long half hour, listening intently.

"If anybody's in this canyon now," Sherry whispered at last, "they darn sure aren't moving. The walls are so close we'd surely have heard some sort of little noise or echo."

"Right," agreed Hope. "But they may come yet. If we aren't too late getting here."

"I'm afraid we are. What time is it, say?"

"It's past 2." Hope answered, studying the stars. He had a watch with luminous dial and a pocket flashlight too, but dared not use either now, of course.

THEY lay low and slept some, one at a time, during the day, but at sundown both were alert and on guard again. The second night was much like the first; lighted only by stars, silent and clear and rather cold. From 7 to 9 o'clock the two men scarcely whispered. At 10, Hope whispered, "Needn't expect anything before midnight," and almost instantly corrected that opinion.

Somewhere in the canyon, at that moment, a roe went tumbling! A large, bounding pebble, nearby.

Grasping his arm for silence, Hope felt Sheridan Starr's big muscles go tense beside him.

A silver cup was presented to the winners by James Van Wagner, president of the speech class. The cup will be kept in this senior class until the interclass tournament of next year. In order for the cup to be kept permanently in any one class, it is necessary for the same class to win three times in succession.

Big Liner Paris Settles In 36 Feet Of Water

Blaze Thought To Have Been Due Incendiarism

LE HARVE, France, April 19.—(AP)—The liner Paris, once the flagship of the French merchant fleet, settled in 36 feet of water today, burned through by fire which officials suspected was set by foreign saboteurs.
Two persons were killed and two others seriously injured in the night-long fight against the flames which firemen said spread from two widely separated parts of the ship. One point of origin was behind locked doors.
Investigators said preliminary investigations strengthened the belief the 34,000-ton liner was deliberately set afire.
An Italian dockworker was held for questioning by Le Havre police.
A shipment of warplanes made in the United States for the French army was taken off the vessel only an hour before it listed and sank in the center of the port. The planes had not been unloaded from the Paris, which arrived from New York Saturday, before the fires started.
Stevadores also were able to save $500,000 worth of French art objects which had just been loaded for shipment to the New York World's Fair. The art treasures were untouched by fire in a forward hold.
Mayor Leon Meyer of LeHarve told the Associated Press that in his opinion "incendiarists" were responsible.
Fire fighters said the main blaze originated in the ship's bakery. The heavy door of the bakery was locked and firemen had to hack it open. Meanwhile the fire had gained uncontrollable headway.
The other blaze started in the barber shop, two decks above the bakery.
Warned of Sabotage
Two day ago Le Surete National, the secret service, warned both the French Line, owners of the Paris, and the ministry of merchant marine that an effort at sabotage would be made at Le Havre.
The Paris was destroyed despite precautions taken in response to that warning.
With her superstructure eaten away by the fires that started at 10 o'clock last night the Paris began to list heavily at dawn and a little later was straining at her ropes at 30-degree angle.
Suddenly, with a great groan, the liner wrenched loose from her moorings, turned on her side and sank slowly in the center of the port.
The Paris, with a capacity of 3,420 passengers, and unofficially valued at $15,000,000, was to have sailed today.
The French Line made immediate arrangements for the liner Champlain, which had been in dock for an overhauling, to sail Thursday with the passengers and cargo of the Paris.

istry as an urgent necessity, although some critics have asserted a broad review of war material requirements to start the ministry would mean an initial delay in arms production.
It was believed unlikely the cabinet would alter its present view that conscription would be unwise at this stage.

Instead the government had distributed small "splinter proof" steel shelters for individual lawns.

Political quarters said the effort in Moscow was to secure individual pledges by Soviet Russia to nations of the French-British front to give military aid when requested.
In Sofia and Ankara, Turkey was urging Bulgaria to join the London-Paris coalition.

Lindbergh To Research On U. S. Air Facilities

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Announcement that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh would survey aviation research in this country for the army drew expressions of approval from members of the senate military affairs committee.
Senator Clark (D-Mo) and some others, however, were quick to say they had full confidence in army and other aviation experts.
"I am very happy to have such a distinguished flier as Col. Lindbergh help," Clark said. "I am not convinced that his conclusions would be as persuasive with house and senate committees as recommendations of some of our own military experts."
"Col. Lindbergh apparently has been acting as a military adviser to the Germans and British. Everybody knows he is a great flier, but I have confidence in our own responsible military experts who have been decorated by other countries."
Clark mentioned Major General H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air corps, as a military expert who would rate ahead of Col. Lindbergh with congressional committees.
Senators Lee (D-Okla) and Gurney (R-S.D) also were quick to praise army aviation leaders while welcoming Lindbergh's assistance.
Senator Minton (D-Ind) said Lindbergh should be of "immeasurable value" to army aviation "not only because of his wide experience but also because he has been in close contact with recent European developments."
Senator Miller (D-Ark) said it was "a splendid idea" for Lindbergh to make the survey. "No man known to me has more general knowledge of aviation conditions all over the world," Miller said.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Announcement that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh would survey aviation research in this country for the army drew expressions of approval from members of the senate military affairs committee.
Senator Clark (D-Mo) and some others, however, were quick to say they had full confidence in army and other aviation experts.
"I am very happy to have such a distinguished flier as Col. Lindbergh help," Clark said. "I am not convinced that his conclusions would be as persuasive with house and senate committees as recommendations of some of our own military experts."
"Col. Lindbergh apparently has been acting as a military adviser to the Germans and British. Everybody knows he is a great flier, but I have confidence in our own responsible military experts who have been decorated by other countries."
Clark mentioned Major General H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air corps, as a military expert who would rate ahead of Col. Lindbergh with congressional committees.
Senators Lee (D-Okla) and Gurney (R-S.D) also were quick to praise army aviation leaders while welcoming Lindbergh's assistance.
Senator Minton (D-Ind) said Lindbergh should be of "immeasurable value" to army aviation "not only because of his wide experience but also because he has been in close contact with recent European developments."
Senator Miller (D-Ark) said it was "a splendid idea" for Lindbergh to make the survey. "No man known to me has more general knowledge of aviation conditions all over the world," Miller said.

The concession was pointed to here as additional evidence of the close relations existing between Turkey and Germany, one of Narkara's best customers.
Considering southeastern Europe and southeastern Asia her dominion of influence, Germany granted Turkey an economic credit of 150,000,000 marks ($60,000,000) after Economics Minister Walther Funk paid a salesman's visit to Ankara last fall.
Meanwhile, Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop's Rumanian visitor, Foreign Minister Grigore Gafencu, was warmly welcomed.
Newspaper headlines said that the "friendly talks revealed far-reaching consonance."
Hitler received Gafencu for a long talk in the Reichs chancellery today with Ribbentrop present. It was understood the Rumanian would see Dufold Hess, Hitler's deputy party leader, and have another conference with Ribbentrop. He is to remain over to participate in the birthday celebration.
The Morgenpost regretted British Prime Minister Chamberlain's welcome of Roosevelt's Saturday message and accused him of "joining the front of war agitator Roosevelt, thereby assuming part of the responsibility for all consequences which may result from Roosevelt's policy."
In the main, however, Germany had her thoughts on the birthday celebration.

Over Thirty Indicted In Narcotics Ring

Ten Additional Arrests Since First Roundup

KANSAS CITY, April 19.—(AP)—Thirty-three indictments were returned today against accused members of a wide-spread narcotics ring by the federal grand jury which is inquiring into Kansas City crime and political corruption.
The indictments included assorted leaders of a ring that got its supply from a Japanese-controlled section of China, by way of New York, and lesser members who were charged as retail peddlers.
Angelo Donnici, 64, labeled by federal agents the head of a syndicate that distributed narcotics over the western half of the United States, was named in seven indictments charging violations of narcotic laws.
Others indicted were: Angelo (Bossie) Nigro, saloon-keeper declared by federal attorneys to be one of the ring's most important wholesalers; seven indictments, six of them bearing three counts each.
Charles Crapisi, ranked by agents as Donnici's chief lieutenant, five indictments containing three counts each.
Jack Ancona, an accused wholesaler whose deputy constable's commission permitted him to carry a gun, one indictment of three counts. Ancona was under $10,000 bond on a previous narcotics charge.
James (Guinea Pig) Abbott, 440-pound accused peddler, one indictment on six counts.
Tony Mangiaracina, Robert Sain, William Meehan, James Smith, John Cicciaro and William Jacobs, all indicted jointly with Nigro on a charge of conspiracy to violate the narcotics laws.
Mike LiCausi, 24, saloon-keeper.
All of the indictments were based on the Harrison anti-narcotics law or the Jones-Miller law. Conviction would carry prison sentences as heavy as a maximum of 30 to 95 years.
Charged with possession and sale of smaller amounts of narcotics were: Anthony Strada, Raymond Scott, George Baker, James Nigro, Bertha Sullivan, Bedford Sullivan, Testena Seymour, Toney George, Margaret Spano and Alis Arnold.
H. J. Anslinger, U. S. commissioner of narcotics, came here from Washington to direct the final roundup of the ring and announced April 12 the arrests of 13 men in Kansas City, New York, Warsaw, Mo., and Oklahoma. Ten more arrests have been made since.
Agents disclosed investigations in Seattle, Los Angeles, Dallas, New Orleans and Minneapolis uncovered trails leading to Kansas City as the source of an illicit drug supply.
In Washington, the treasury reported to the state department that narcotics seized in the Kansas City raids originated in Japanese concessions in Tientsin. A state department official said the treasury report probably would form part of a report to the League of Nations opium commission meeting in Geneva next month.
The grand jury took no action today in the case of Jack Colburn, suspended patrolman of the Kansas City police force, arrested in last week's roundup.

'Cards' Set For Opening

Chicago Cubs Will Start Season Off In St. Louis Friday

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 20.—With everything set for one of the largest and most colorful opening day crowds in years, the St. Louis Cardinals will inaugurate the National league season at Sportsman's park Friday afternoon by mixing with Gabby Hartnett's Chicago Cubs.

The Red Birds inaugural series with the Cubs consists of three games, the Chicagoans remaining in St. Louis for games Saturday and Sunday. The opener Friday starts at 3 o'clock, with the Saturday and Sunday contests getting under way at 2:30.

The traditional rivalry between Manager Ray Blades' Red Birds and the Cubs should make the entire series hard-fought. Each team has been eyeing the reports of the other's progress throughout the spring and looking forward to this first test of strength. Intensifying the rivalry, as far as the Red Birds are concerned, was Manager Hartnett's public prediction of another pennant for the Cubs while assigning the Bladesmen to fourth place.

Adding to the gaiety of the opener Friday will be a huge marching demonstration on the field prior to the game by the twenty-two school bands as part of a celebration being staged by approximately 100 Illinois cities for their fellow-Illinoisans, Ray Blades, when he makes his St. Louis managerial debut.

The Cubs will be followed at Sportsman's park by the Cincinnati Reds, who engage the Cardinals in a two-game series Tuesday and Wednesday. A two-game series with the Pirates on the first two days will close the first Red Bird home stand.

Box and reserved seats for all of these games can be obtained by mail order from the Cardinal ticket office in the Arcade building. The ticket office number is Long Distance 99.

Upward Tilt To Grain Market
CHICAGO, April 19.—(AP)—Improved milling and export demand for wheat gave prices an upward tilt today but the stronger stock market and announcement that the British ambassador would return to Berlin caused late selling by traders who believed the European political situation to be less foreboding. The result was that prices closed very little changed from yesterday.
North American export business was estimated at 1,250,000 bushels, mostly Canadian wheat, indicating exporters said, nervousness among foreign importers. Sales of wheat abroad the past few days have been averaging about 1,000,000 bushels.

Will Present 'Elijah' Sunday Night

"Elijah," an oratorio by Felix Mendelssohn, will be presented by the Helen G. Steele Music club Sunday night at the First Methodist church, Fourth street and Osage avenue. The program will be open to the public.

The solo parts will be sung by four members of the music conservatory at Stephens college, Columbia, sent under the supervision of Ernest L. Cox, head of the voice department. The soloist will be Miss Winifred Julsrud, soprano; Miss Elizabeth Recht, contralto; Arthur Todd, baritone and Karl Bratton, tenor. Miss Marjorie Orton, also of the Stephens conservatory, who is an organist and concert pianist, will play the piano accompaniments. The Columbians will be assisted by a chorus of 25 local singers. Mrs. A. R. Beach, of the Helen G. Steele Music Club, is directing the oratorio.

An oratorio is a dramatic text, set to music in recitative, arias and choruses, and is presented without action, scenery and costumes, differing in those elements from opera.

"Elijah" is considered one of the best known and most popular work of its kind ever written. The first performance was given August 26, 1846, at Birmingham, England, with Mendelssohn himself conducting the oratorio.

Some changes were made after this first presentation, and it was then given in London April 16, 1847 in Exeter Hall, with Queen Victoria and the Prince Consort, Albert, witnessing the performance.

Critics say that "Elijah" remains today probably the most dramatic oratorio ever written. It is crowded with stirring incident and with music of universal appeal. The text is a mosaic of biblical verses taken principally from the First Book of Kings.

It is said that enthusiasm for the oratorio has never waned since its original performance, and it now is rated second only to "The Messiah" in popularity.

Miss Kroenke Weds Leland Garrison

A pretty wedding was solemnized Friday evening at 9 o'clock at the Full Gospel church when Miss Virginia Kroenke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kroenke of 312 East Sixteenth street, became the bride of Leland Garrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Garrison of 912 East Fourth street.

The single ring ceremony was performed in the presence of many relatives and friends by Rev. C. W. Swanson.

The bride wore a shell pink gown floor length. Her veil was caught up with orange blossoms and she carried an arm bouquet of white lilies. She was attended by Miss Genevieve Kroenke, her sister, as bridesmaid, who was attired in a rust colored dress with British tan accessories and wore a shoulder bouquet of pink carnations.

Little Joan Kroenke, a sister of the bride, who was attired in green taffeta, carried the veil.

Mr. Garrison was attended by Bennett Morton as best man.

The bridal party entered the church, which was decorated with palms and Easter lilies and ribbons, to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Miss Daisy Cronin. Mrs. C. W. Swanson sang, "I Love You Truly."

Mendelssohn's wedding march was played as a recessional.

The bride and groom were both reared and received their education in Sedalia. Mr. Garrison is employed at the Missouri Pacific shops.

Mr. and Mrs. Garrison will reside in Sedalia and are at home to their many friends at East Fifth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Garrison have many friends who wish them happiness.

How the plus of OIL-PLATING brings you more than an oil-change

YOU know right off that the fresh oil needed in your crankcase today, isn't to lubricate the crankcase. Either your oil is in the bearings and up to the cylinder head every turn of your engine, or your lubrication isn't 100%.

Now what's the chance for any of the general run of oils to stay up while you've parked the car, for instance? Just about as much chance as there is for a geyser to stay up all by itself! Then every time you start, don't pistons get up to the top before oil gets up from the crankcase? You kill that risk by changing now to OIL-PLATING.

The "magnetic action" of Conoco Germ Processed oil—patented—makes OIL-PLATING stay on inner engine surfaces throughout all your stops, starts and runs this Summer. Your Germ Processed oil keeps a steady hold on the "Full" mark, too, as you'll see—by changing today to Your Mileage Merchant. Continental Oil Company
